TEACHERS COME HERE MONDAY

County Institute Opens after Being Postponed two Weeks.

FEWER THAN LAST YEAR

Prominent Men on the List of Instructors. Should have an Interesting Session.

Adams County's teachers institute will convene in Xanter Hall on Monday afternoon for its sixty-fourth annual session. The meeting has been delayed two weeks this year by reason of the influenza epidemic. This necessitated an entire re-arrangement of the program. Instructors and entertainers who had been engaged for the time originally planned had other engagements for the coming week and the county superintendent was compelled to secure what talent was available on short notice.

The personnel of the instructors to appear is ample insurance that the teachers will not lose by the postponement. The list consists of S. D. Fess, president of Antioch college, Yellow Springs, Ohio; J. L. McBrien, of the bureau of education, Washington, D. C.; H. H. Baish, secretary of the state retirement board, Harrisburg; Ezra Lehman, principal of the Cumberland Valley State Normal School, Shippensburg. In addition to these men, I. L. Taylor will act as musical director, and Mrs. S. F. Snyder as pianist.

Preparation is made for the reception of 221 teachers. This is five less than the number here last year. The decrease is accounted for by the closing of five schools at different points throughout the county. Directors of these schools were unable to secure teachers so they were closed and the pupils sent to adjoining districts.

From 8 to 12 Monday morning the teachers will enroll at the office of the County Superintendent. The institute program will begin with opening exercises at 1:30 in the afternoon. The first speaker will be Dr. Lehman, and after a period of music Dr. McBrien will address the gathering. The evening entertainment will consist of recitals by Messenger Miller. As has been the custom for some years, the day sessions are open to any of the public, who may care to attend. A charge is made for the evening entertainments, and they are as a rule patronized by a number of town people.

The program from Tuesday morning to Friday morning, inclusive, is given:

Tuesday, 9:00 a. m.—Opening exercises; address, Dr. McBrien; music; address, Dr. Fess. Tuesday, 1:30 p. m.—music; address, Dr. Fess; music; address, Dr. McBrien. Tuesday, 8:00 p. m.—lecture, Dr. S. D. Fess.

Wednesday, 9:00 a. m.—opening exercises; address, Dr. McBrien; music; address, Dr. Fess. Wednesday, 1:30 p. m.—music; Parent-Teachers' Association; address, Dr. Fess; music; address, Dr. McBrien. Wednesday, 8:00 p. m.—The Saxonians.

Friday, 9:00 a. m.—opening exercises; reports of committees; music; address, Dr. McBrien.

MT. ALTO SCHOOLS CLOSED

New Cases of Influenza Makes Precaution Necessary.

The public schools of Mont Alto have again been closed for two weeks. Several new cases of "flu" among the children have caused the local health board to take this stand in order that the disease does not spread. The churches and Bible schools will also be closed for the same period of time.

NUMBER DRAFTED MEN IS GIVEN OUT

Five Hundred and Forty-Eight were Sent from Adams County.

Adams County's draft board sent 548 men to camps since the draft law went into effect, according to the compilation of figures showing the number of men sent into the United States service, made by Major William G. Murdock, the state draft executive.

He also presents the fact that the 282 local draft boards furnished 195,205 Pennsylvanians to the American Army. If the exact number of men sent to replace drafted men at cantonments and delinquents and slackers could be ascertained and added to the 10,094 individual inductions and the student army training corps inductions, it is believed here the total would be well along towarti a quarter of a million men furnished to the Army from the Keystone State.

In addition, there were over 28,000 men who went out with the old National Guard of Pennsylvania and formed the famous Keystone or Iron Division, and thousands of Pennsylvanians who enlisted in the Army, Navy and Marine Corps.

It is believed here that when the grand total is struck it will come close to exceeding the figure of 366,323 which has been given as the number of men Pennsylvania furnished to the Union armies in the Civil War, which was over three times as long as the war with Germany.

NO MORE TENT CAMPS

All Canvas Camps to be Abandoned Soon.

Washington, Nov. 30—The 16 so-called tent camps originally constructed as training centers for National Guard divisions will be abandoned as soon as practicable, General March, chief of staff, announced Friday in a War Department circular. No additional tents or supplies will be sent to these camps, nor will any further construction be undertaken at them not absolutely necessary for the care of troops now there or to be sent there hereafter for demobilization.

The only exception will be the base hospitals at the camps, which the circular directs be maintained.

The camps are Camp Greene, Charlotte, N. C.; Wadsworth, Spartanburg, S. C.; Hancock, Augusta, Ga.; McClellan, Anniston, Ala.; Sevier, Greenville, S. C.; Wheeler, Macon, Ga.; MacArthur, Waco, Tex.; Logan, Houston, Tex.; Cody, Deming, N. M.; Fort Sill, Okla.; Bowie, Fort Worth, Tex.; Sheridan, Montgomery, Ala.; Shelby, Hattiesburg, Miss.; Beauregard, Alexandria, La.; Kearney, Linda Vista, Cal.; Fremont, Palo Alto, Cal. This order does not affect Gettysburg because it never was considered a regular army camping place.

GET NEW CONTRACTS

Frick Company at Waynesboro among the Fortunate.

While the Shipping Board officials at Washington are averse to attaching great publicity to the awarding of new contracts, it is learned that the Frick company, of Waynesboro, has been awarded several contracts for refrigerating machinery to be installed in ships which will carry meat abroad.

The effect of this will keep up, for the present, a normal working condition in the refrigerating department of that company and will tend to relieve the anxiety on part of workmen there employed as to their status after the declaration of an armistice.

On the other hand, it is admitted by officials of the Frick company, that commercial business is not going back to normal as rapidly as they might wish or possibly so soon as they expected.

DEER HUNTERS READY FOR SPORT

Many Club Members are Already at their Different Camps.

SEASON STARTS MONDAY

Sixteen Clubs are Located within Adams County or very near the County Line.

Practically all of the sixteen deer hunting clubs located in Adams county or near the line on the Cumberland county side have their camps in readiness for the reception of their members on Sunday when plans will be completed for the early morning drives on Monday. The hunting period for this year includes three Sundays during which, of course, there will be no hunting done. However, this arrangement permits those members who are employed, and who take their vacation during the deer season, to be with their camps for two full weeks.

A few of the camps, where the members live under canvas during their outing, sent an advance party out to get things in shape on Friday. Most of the members flocked to the various hunting grounds to-day, and some of the belated ones are planning to get there on Sunday. In spite of the fact that each camp has some of its members in the military or naval service a good attendance is looked for.

Probably the largest representation in the service of their country has been contributed by the Marsh Creek Club. Eleven of their twenty-four members are in the army, seven of them in France. The other thirteen have arranged for a little ceremony this evening in honor of the absentees, during which they will raise a service flag over their camp. These men are encamped at their usual place located along the Cold Springs road, about one mile west of the Chambersburg turnpike.

The county's largest camp is the Arendtsville Club, with forty-eight members. They occupy a building on their own ground, near the Beamer field, situated north of the Shippensburg road. Probably the next in size is a new organization from Spring Grove with a total of thirty-eight members. They will camp this year beyond Orrtanna, near the Calvin Baltzley place. Another of the larger crowds is the Cashtown Club. Its regular camping place is a short distance north of the Chambersburg turnpike, near Harvey Newman's.

Attendance at the thirteen other camps usually varies from a dozen to twenty-five campers. Their locations are as follows: New Oxford Camp, near Amos Newman's; McKnightstown Camp, near Albert W. Cole's place; Monterey Camp, at Reary's cottage, near Newman's schoolhouse; Kane Club, on the Miltenberger field; Brysona Club, on the Doll field; Taylor Camp, on land along the Shippensburg road on the Cumberland county side, just a mile north of Pine Grove furnace; York Springs Camp, at the Flint Mill, near Hunters Run; Benderswille Club, at the place known as Rip Raps; Grover Myers camp, at Laurel dam, on the Cumberland county side; Latimore Club, location not given; and another new camp, organized last year, known as Camp Eighteen, by reason of its eighteen members, will camp on the Gardner place at Big Flat.

Rivalry between the different clubs is quite keen, and most of them hunt under a well formed organization with regularly designated hunt leaders in command. In addition to these regular organizations, the mountains are usually filled for at least the first few days of the season with "free lance" hunters, and men who hunt in twos and threes. Some seasons see as many deer killed by these lone hunters as are secured at the different camps.

NO NEW OUTBREAKS

According to the report given out by the State Health Department yesterday there are no new outbreaks of influenza, and conditions were said to be good generally in affected communities.

MARKET DWINDLES

Plenty of Buyers, Few Products and High Prices.

Three marketmen and a butcher comprised the curb market this morning. The products offered for sale consisted of apples, potatoes, cabbage and butter, and the prices asked were something in excess of what the same provisions sell for at the grocery stores. Plenty of buyers were on hand but quite a few of them left with their baskets empty.

TWO SURPRISES IN HUNT SEASON

Game Code Endorsed and the Closing of Grouse Shooting is Approved.

Two surprises have marked the 1918 hunting season as far as reports have come to the office of the Game Commission. One has been the general acceptance of the game code and the closing of the state to the shooting of ruffled grouse and the other has been the large number of hunters' licenses issued.

Except for a desire to advance the opening of the blackbird season to a time in August instead of September first because of the large number and annoying qualities of the flocks this year and to take up the protection of red squirrel there have been very few objections to the game code. Hunters who used to make issues before legislative committees because of relation of seasons to the northern and southern tiers of counties have realized that it is better to allow seasons to be well tried out instead of continually agitating changes. Hence the disposition generally noted to let the code be tried out. The conservation idea back of the closing of the state to grouse hunting until next fall seems to have been equally recognized and even more firmly supported. The fact that grouse have not been seen, or at best noticed rarely in districts where ten years ago they were prime hunting, has helped to bring home the need for restrictions. It is also noted by some men who have been following game developments that the sentiment for closing of counties to quail hunting is growing stronger. If the grouse experiment is a success there will undoubtedly be an agitation for the same thing in regard to quail.

Over a dozen counties have asked for more license tags than they have ever had before and the 300,000 mark is expected to be passed. More sportsmen are believed to be out now than five years ago and in spite of absence of many men at war there will be a couple of regiments of deer slayers in the woods December 1.

Relatives Receive Word from Men who are on "Other Side."

ANOTHER IS COMMISSIONED

Lt. Ira E. Lady has been Wounded. Sergeant Orner Writes to his Pastor.

Interesting letters have been received recently from Adams County boys. Sergeant Arlie R. Orner, of Arendtsville, in writing to Rev. T. C. Hesson, from Le Teil (Ardeche) France, tells of the life and customs of the French people. He comments upon the roads and says that after traveling over 1500 miles he has not seen a bad road. George Baugher, of Aspers, who had been reported as missing in action, from October 20th to the 30th, now writes that he is spending a seven days' leave "in the most beautiful spot in France". Sergeant Orner says:

I am still in France, am getting along fine and like the country. Of course I like America best and shall be glad when the war is over and we can return to the good old U. S. A.

There is a company of us stationed in the southeastern part of France. We have been here over five months in charge of work. We are near the foothills of the Alps mountains and only a short distance from Switzerland. This is a very interesting and historical part of France. The scenery is beautiful. We can see the snow-capped Alps on a clear day. There were active volcanoes in this vicinity many years ago and the ruins of them can still be seen in some places.

We were the first Americans to land in this part of France, and as we marched through the streets the people were all out watching us and the children ran along asking for anything from tobacco to money. They surely looked as though they were in need of something. It is now a common occurrence to hear the boys and girls singing "Tipperary" and "Hail, Hail, the Gang's all here", and whistling "America, Here's my Boy", "The Star Spangled Banner" and others.

The French are very courteous to us. The mothers are very kind to us and will do anything they can to make life more comfortable for us. The kindness with which they treat us almost makes one forget they are in a foreign country, if it were not for the difference in language.

But the people are many years behind the times in every way except with their style of dress and good roads. The roads of this country are wonderful. I have traveled over 1500 miles since being in France and I have my first bad road to see. They are all rock roads and every road on each side is lined by beautiful trees much like the park roads of America.

One can still see them driving oxen here. Of course they have some of the best horses here and one often sees American machinery. In one day of my traveling I saw American gas tractors plowing in one field and a lady with four oxen plowing in another field.

The French are astonished at the speed at which the Americans do their work. There was a job of work to be done at a seaport which was needed very bad to permit the speedy arrival of troops and supplies. The French contractors had figured on from three to five years time to complete the work, but a regiment of United States Engineers arrived on the scene and the work was completed in four months. That is only one of many instances that can be related.

There is no question to it but the U. S. A. is the most wonderful country in the world. I do not say this in a boasting way either. It is an absolute fact. If you could see half of what the U. S. has done over here you would agree with me. It makes one feel proud to help defend such a country.

COUNTY SOLDIER KILLED IN ACTION

Sgt. Guy Miller, of Bonneauville, Makes the Supreme Sacrifice.

Sergeant Guy Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Miller, of Bonneauville, is the latest man reported to have sacrificed his life for the great cause while fighting in France. The customary message from the War Department reached his parents on Friday evening and simply stated that his name had been reported as among those killed in action.

Sergeant Miller left his home last October with a contingent of men that was sent to Camp Meade. He was there made a member of the 316th regiment of infantry, and was later promoted to the grade of sergeant in that organization. It was with this regiment that he went to France, and it is presumed that he met his death while fighting with it.

His parents received a letter from him that was written about the 12th of October in which he stated that he was well and getting along in fine shape. This was the last direct word they have had from their son.

Prior to Sergeant Miller's departure he worked at his trade of carpentering in and about Bonneauville, at which place he spent practically his whole life. He was about twenty-four years old.

Besides his parents he leaves two sisters, Mrs. George Gebhart and Mrs. Augustus Hawn, both of Bonneauville.

ABOUT HOME COMING

Department has Designated Number of Men to be Sent Home.

(By Telegraph)

Washington, Nov. 30—The 39th Division is the first one on the list of Divisions designated to return home in its entirety. This does not necessarily mean that it is to be the first to sail. The 76th and 87th are also designated to return in their entirety. These Divisions will be moved when transportation is available.

General March, chief of staff, announced these facts to-day, adding that 79,663 men and 3,451 officers overseas are the total at present designated for demobilization. He said the army expects to reach a return rate of 175,000 a month in December, and later at a rate of 300,000 a month.

Troops in the United States designated for demobilization soon now number 649,000, and the government expects to keep prodding the camps until a 10,000 daily discharge rate is obtained.

PEACE DELEGATES ARE ANNOUNCED

Secretary Lansing, Col. House, Henry White, Gen. Bliss.

PRESIDENT HEADS LIST

Announcement was Withheld Because Number was in Doubt. Word Given out at White House.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 30—President Wilson himself will head the American representation at the Peace Conference. This was announced officially last night at the White House.

The representatives of the United States at the Peace Conference will be:

President Wilson, Robert Lansing, Secretary of State; Henry White, former Ambassador to France and Italy; E. M. House; General Tasker H. Bliss, representative of the American Army with the Supreme War Council at Versailles.

This announcement was made last night at the White House. In the absence of any official explanation it was assumed that the President goes as President of the United States and that Secretary Lansing, Mr. White and Colonel House, and possibly also General Bliss, will be delegates with Ambassadorial rank.

It was recalled that the President's announcement, that he would go to France "for the purpose of taking part in the discussion and settlement of the main features of the treaty of peace," said that it was not likely that he could remain throughout the sessions of the Peace Conference and that he would be "accompanied by delegates who will sit as the representatives of the United States throughout the conference."

Text of Official Announcement

The White House announcement follows:

"It was announced at the executive offices that the representatives of the United States at the Peace Conference would be: The President himself, the Secretary of State, the Hon. Henry White, recently Ambassador to France; Edward M. House and General Tasker H. Bliss.

"It was explained that it had not been possible to announce these appointments before because the number of representatives each of the chief belligerents was to send had until a day or two ago been under discussion."

White House officials would add nothing to the formal statement, and no one professing to be in the confidence of the President would talk. There was only one surprise in the statement—the appearance of the name of General Bliss as one of the representatives. It had been taken for granted that the general military representative of the United States on the Supreme War Council would take part in the discussions at Versailles, but the general idea had been he would be attached to the delegation in a military capacity, just as Admiral Benson probably will be present as spokesman for the navy in the great naval problems to be solved.

New York, Nov. 30—Relatives and friends of the first American troops now returning from England will not be permitted to meet the transports when they reach Hoboken, according to a statement made by Brigadier General G. H. McManus, embarkation officer at the port of New York, at a conference here Friday with newspaper men. He did not state whether this policy would apply to other troops returning later to America.

LOWER POSTAL RATES JULY 1ST

Senate Finance Committee Overrules Burleson's Money-Making Ideas.

WANT A PRE-WAR BASIS

Congress Likely to Agree with Senate Proposition. Zone System Almost Wiped out.

After July 1 next a two-cent stamp will carry a letter anywhere, and a postal card can be bought at the old price of one cent. Publishers of newspapers and periodicals can send their product to any point within a radius of 200 miles at the rate of one cent a pound, and beyond that for one and a half cents a pound.

The decisions were reached by the Senate Finance Committee, which is redrafting the revenue bill in the light of new developments resulting from the signing of the armistice. Of course, the action of the Finance Committee must be ratified by the Senate and agreed to by the House, but it is regarded as certain that both Houses will agree to the changes, now that the war is over.

Generally speaking, the changes which were voted into the revenue bill by the Finance Committee restore the pre-war rates on second class as well as first class postage. Instead of the present rate of three cents an ounce on letter mail and a two-cent rate on postal cards, each is reduced one cent. Before the war publishers were able to send their newspapers and periodicals anywhere in the United States for one cent a pound.

The action of the Senate committee which was taken by a vote of 10 to 3, almost entirely wipes out the zone system for which Postmaster General Burleson fought so hard. Instead of eight zones with transportation charges graded according to the length of the haul, the country, according to the plan of the Finance Committee, will be divided into two zones—that of 200 miles, and beyond.

Furthermore, the action of the committee, assuming that it is written into the law, will prevent the graduated increase in publishers' rates, based on percentages of advertising to reading matter, which were to have gone into effect on July 1 next. It is believed that the action of the committee will eliminate entirely the future controversy between newspapers and magazine publishers resulting from the zone system proposals of recent years.

The loss on first-class postage alone will be $70,000,000 annually. The letter rate was increased from 2 cents to 3 cents and the postcard rate from 1 to 2 cents as a means of raising increased revenue for the prosecution of the war.

The finance committee proposes that the changes back to the old rate shall go into effect July 1, so far as the first-class matter is concerned, and that the flat poundage rate on periodicals shall become effective with the passage of the pending bill.

FOR SOLDIERS MAIL

Letters to Expeditionary Forces must have Return Address.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 30—Under instructions issued Friday by Postmaster General Burleson, no letter mail will be accepted by post offices in the United States for delivery to members of the American Expeditionary Forces without a return address on the envelope.

The order was issued at the request of the War Department, so that proper disposition may be made of mail reaching France for members of the Expeditionary Forces who have returned to the United States.

PEPPLES FAMILY HAS ENVIABLE WAR RECORD

Hermill, O.—The Pepples family of this city has an enviable war record, having been represented in every war fought by the United States. The Revolutionary war, the War of 1812, the Mexican war, the Civil war and the Spanish-American struggle have all seen Peppleses bearing arms. In the present world war five of their sons are with the colors, bringing up the family's total for all American wars to 22 soldiers.

HUNS LOSE TWO U-BOATS

Knoxville, Tenn.—Five submarines attacked the ship Mount Vernon, which was bringing 150 wounded American soldiers back to the United States and two of the U-boats were sunk, says William Matthew, member of the crew, in a letter to his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Matthews, Chickamauga avenue, this city.

EMPRESS JOINS HUSBAND

Demand Grows for Holland to Surrender Former German Ruler. Foreign News Reports.

London, Nov. 30—The Berlin Government, according to a news dispatch received from Copenhagen by the Exchange Telegraph Company, has sent a telegram to the former German Emperor, now in Holland, demanding the formal abdication of himself and the former Crown Prince.

The Amsterdam Telegraaf says it understands that the members of the former German Emperor's suite, who have been staying at Maarn, Holland, will return to Germany to-day.

The actual procedure to be followed in demanding the surrender of the former Emperor to the Allies will be discussed in London, according to the Daily Express. Premier Clemenceau of France will arrive here Sunday with Marshal Foch.

The British and French Governments, the newspaper adds, have reached a decision regarding their right to make the demand on Holland.

Former Empress Joins Husband

The former German Empress arrived by train Thursday at Maarsbergen, Holland, and went by automobile to Amerongen, where the former Emperor is staying, according to a Rotterdam dispatch to the Daily Mirror.

The former Empress seemed in high spirits. She was met at the station by the wife of the German Minister at The Hague. The former Emperor was not at the station and only a few villagers were about. An automobile load of baggage was taken to the castle, but 20 large trunks were left at the station.

An Amsterdam dispatch says Auguste Victoria used a certain amount of ingenuity to escape identification, but the correspondent, in a tramp over the muddy roads from Maarn, witnessed her departure from the station. Notwithstanding current reports of the serious illness of the ex-Empress, the correspondent said she looked quite well. She wore a black hat with a veil and a purple costume.

William Hohenzollern, her husband, did not go to the station to meet his wife, but Count von Bentinck was waiting at the station with three motor cars. The former Empress left in the first of these, accompanied by another woman, presumably the Countess Kelles.

THRIFT STAMPS TO REMAIN ON SALE

Secretary McAdoo Declares Continued War Savings Necessary.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 30—Continued practice of thrift through purchase of War Savings and Thrift Stamps is necessary so the Government may meet the expense of the war, provide the means of supporting the army in Europe and of bringing it back to American soil, said Director General McAdoo in a message sent to all regional directors of railroads.

The regional directors were called upon to ask railroad employees of their regions to save their money and invest it in War Savings Stamps and Thrift Stamps to help the Government and the soldiers and sailors and also to help themselves by laying up a fund which will be a protection to them in after years.

LIFT COAL RESTRICTIONS

Prices for Bituminous not Regulated After December 15th.

Washington, Nov. 30—Present prices as fixed by the Fuel Administration range from $2.95 to $4.95 a ton at the mines for soft coal.

Dr. Garfield said it may be possible to abandon the zone system of distribution of bituminous coal by the middle of December, but that action to this end will be taken only after consultation with the railroad administration.

The Fuel Administrator said he could not "take his hands off" the anthracite situation until winter is over. This was taken to mean that the government will continue its control over anthracite coal until the end of the coal year, April 1, and that the Fuel Administration will continue to function until that time.

Doing Right.

Everything on earth has its price, and sooner or later we pay for all that we have. When we consider that doing right takes so much toll of effort, sacrifice, and the loss of what we call "success," we have only to look about us to see that evil-doing is more costly still. Its demands may come in on the installment plan, but they will be all the more exorbitant because of that.

HOOVER FOR WORLD FOOD DICTATOR

American's Appointment is Under Consideration at Present Time.

Paris, Nov. 30—Appointment of Herbert C. Hoover as director general of relief, having charge of the entire food and relief administration for the European Allies and the United States, is under consideration.

It is understood the offer of the position has been made in behalf of the Allies, and is favorably regarded by Mr. Hoover, although no announcement has been made.

The general idea of the plan is to centralize the organization under one head, so that both the food and tonnage made available by the various Allies would be used under one plan to the best advantage of each of the Allied nations. The Director General would be the supreme executive head, and would work in conjunction with the existing interallied maritime, food and financial commissions, which have headquarters in London. The present American representatives on these commissions are Messrs. Stevens, Rublee, Crosby and Sheldon.

Part of the plan is that relief ships, forming an extensive interallied relief fleet, shall fly an interallied flag, so that the countries receiving relief will feel that it comes from all alike, rather than from any one country.

PARDON OR DEATH MOONEY'S DEMAND

Issues Statement from Prison. Calls for Labor's Help.

San Francisco, Nov. 30—From his cell in San Quentin prison, Thomas J. Mooney issued a statement yesterday in which he called upon labor to help bring about his unconditional pardon. Both Mooney and his friends are dissatisfied over the action of Gov. William D. Stephens in commuting his sentence to life imprisonment.

Mooney's statement was censored by Warden Johnson, of San Quentin, before it was given out, because it abused Governor Stephens. The statement in part is as follows:

"Governor Stephens—It is my life you are dealing with. I demand that you revoke the revocation of my death sentence to a living death. I prefer a glorious death at the hands of my traducers, you included, to a living grace. I am innocent.

"I demand a new and a fair trial or my unconditional liberty through a pardon. If I were guilty of the crime for which I have been unjustly convicted, hanging would be too good for me. Then why commute my sentence to life?

"I refuse to accept the commutation. I now appeal to you again to act, and the sooner the better."

WILL NOT LEAVE VATICAN

Pope has no Intention of Removing from Present Residence.

Baltimore, Nov. 30—All intimations contained in recurrent reports filtering into the United States to the effect that Pope Benedict is contemplating the removal of the Holy See from the Vatican are entirely without foundation.

Cardinal Gibbons yesterday set at rest any doubt that might remain as to the Pope's intentions by explaining that the reports were unwarranted and therefore not worth being entertained.

Removal of the Pope from Rome would be against all precedent and would in many ways involve the affairs of the Catholic Church, while the Pope's absence might perhaps be regarded as renunciation to his title to the Vatican and possibly incur his permanent stay outside the country. There would be gigantic tasks of reorganization and also the more difficult task of the re-establishment of the Holy See elsewhere, not to speak of the historic and sentimental reasons for the Pope's remaining in Rome.

YEAR'S WAR COST

Last Year Cost Goverment nearly Ten Billion Dollars.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 30—It cost $5,645,000,000 to run the American Army during the year ending June 30 last: $1,368,000,000 for the navy and $1,516,000,000 for the civil government proper. The Shipping Board spent $862,000,000 and $181,000,000 was paid out in pensions.

These figures are shown by the annual report of John Burke, treasurer of the United States, to Secretary McAdoo. The report showed the public debt on June 30 was $12,396,000,000.

BEAT AMERICAN PRISONER

Germans Also Kept Him for Days Without Food. He Says.

The Stars and Stripes, the official newspaper of the American expeditionary force, identifies the first American private soldier to escape from prison in Germany as Frank Savicki, and devotes a three-column article to his experiences. Savicki, whose home was in Shenandoah, Pa., is a Russian Pole by birth and has taken out his first naturalization papers.

While a prisoner in the hands of the Germans Savicki spent ten weeks behind the German lines, where he worked 14 hours daily on military work. He then was sent to a farm. He often went days without food and water, and was clubbed by his guards for picking grass along a roadside to eat. Finally he was sent to the prison camp at Rastatt, where he received American Red Cross parcels from Switzerland.

After several weeks in the prison camp Savicki escaped and got through the mountains into western Alsace, where he has rejoined his regiment.

MORE FATAL THAN AUTO

Animal-Drawn Vehicles Cause Many Deaths in Massachusetts.

Animal-drawn vehicles caused more deaths in Massachusetts during the past year than did automobiles.

The annual report of the state industrial accident board, just issued, states that there were 43 fatal accidents, of which 23 were caused by vehicles drawn by horses and 20 by those self propelled.

Flirting Not Patriotic.

The flirt is not a patriot in these times, according to Doctor Crossdale, who addressed a gathering of the Seattle Women's Business club recently. "Young women should be taught," said Doctor Crossdale, "that the most valuable thing they can give to men in service is wholesome comradery."

BIG U. S. NAVY BASE

Vast Establishment Maintained on French Coast.

Is Composite of Navy Department and of an American Navy Yard.

American Naval Base, France.—Here on this rugged Breton coast there is an American naval establishment which is a sort of composite of the busy activity of the navy department at Washington and one of the big navy yards on the American seaboard.

Vice Admiral Wilson, commanding the American naval forces in French waters, has his headquarters here, with an executive staff quartered in one of the largest buildings of the city, fronting the Place President Wilson. American bluejackets are on guard at all the entrances, and steady files of American naval officers and sailors crowd the corridors on their various duties.

Besides the rush of the port itself, this is the naval administration center for 300 miles of the French coast, divided into three districts, with a number of the chief ports into which the masses of American men and material are pouring.

Aside from the American transport fleet which comes and goes, there is a standing personnel of officers and men in these districts, with some eighty ships—destroyers, repair ships, converted yachts, mine-sweepers and naval tugs. The shore establishment is on the same extensive scale, with aerodromes for balloons and airplanes, great stacks of coal and mammoth tanks for fuel oil.

Naval headquarters is in constant wireless touch with the whole range of this naval activity, along the 300 miles of front and far out to sea, where the convoys are steadily moving in and out.

It is a huge work this big establishment is carrying on. On the strictly naval side are the defensive and offensive operations—defense of American and other allied shipping across the Atlantic, and offensive in the war of extermination being made against enemy submarines.

Outside of the naval operations there is the steady march of a vast naval construction at all the ports along this 300 miles of sea front, repair plants, fuel stations, oil tanks, water works and all the requirements of a great naval establishment which is constant-

CLOSE HOLES IN MACARONI

Uncle Sam Must Save Cargo Space and That's Reason for Innovation.

New York.—They've gone and abolished the hole in macaroni in order to save cargo space. They've gone and done it! This startling report has just leaked back from France, and it explains the recent strained ways of the great city's macaroni, vermicelli and spaghetti makers. Holeless macaroni? Most unnatural!

However, Uncle Sam must save cubic miles of room on his stupendous transportation undertaking. Spaghetti, without the vent, the hole, is just as good, tastes even more solid and saves the diameters of its former air spacing reckoned in great bulk, many cubic blocks of room. In the A. E. F. it goes under the name of "wiggles."

What will New York's hard-pressed, unconventional and temperamental element do if veteran doughboys import a vogue on their triumphant return of "wiggles," without holes, into all the city's places of red ink and this slippery savor?

"LUXURY TAX" IN LONDON

Hits Purses of Shoppers Who Dote on Buying, Returning and Exchanging.

London.—The vicissitudes of war have finally reached the woman shoppers who dote on buying, returning, exchanging and working what in America is known as the "approval slip" privilege to the limit.

The luxury tax will reach them—will reach into their purses even.

The luxury tax will be paid when the purchase is made, though the price of the article may be charged, if the customer has a credit account. But, if the article is brought back, perhaps as the occasion of another trip to Oxford or Regent street, and exchanged for something else, the war tax must be paid on this second article as well, or on the third or fourth, if the exchange habit lasts that long.

Avoid Unprofitable Moods.

Angry moods and "grouches" and their twin sisters, "grudges," serve absolutely no purpose. If some one hurts or wounds us generously forget it. Time heals the deepest cuts and makes us braver and wiser for the experience. Let us love life and its worth-while things and avoid all unprofitable moods. Otherwise happiness will never come our way, and if we search for it, it will flee from us like a phantom, for after all it is the state of our mind.

I think after the war is over France will become much more Americanized. By that I mean they will use more of the American machinery and more of the American system of work. You know the American uses both his head and hands when he works but the Frenchman is not so much that way.

The leading product of this section is wine, which they ship by the trainload. There are a few small grain fields and truck gardens here but the most one sees is vineyards.

We are having fine fall weather here. There has been no frost and the fall garden truck is growing. I saw some people setting out late cabbage plants a few days ago. We have a couple rainy days each week otherwise the weather is pleasant.

We are getting plenty of good eats so have no kick to make. Of course the U. S. Army is the best fed army in the world. But it would not be if it were not for the people back home, as we do not depend upon the French for much food.

A couple of us took supper at a restaurant a few days ago. We each had six fried eggs, a large dish of French fried potatoes, a dish of salad, a beef steak, all the bread we could eat and wine. The price was eight francs, about $1.40 in U. S. money. That isn't a high price when you consider the food situation over here.

The Frenchman is a much greater eater than an American. They eat as much in one meal as we eat in two meals. Of course the poor people cannot eat so well. The workman's lunch consists of a part of a loaf of bread, some cheese, a few ounces of chocolate candy, and a quart of wine. In this section the French eat four times a day, breakfast at eight a. m., dinner at noon, supper at four p. m., and supper at seven p. m.

George Baugher writes to his father, H. G. Baugher, of Aspers:

I know you have a lot of extra work to do since Chester and most all the boys have been called into service, but they are needed to help bring this conflict to an end so much the sooner. Then we will all return and be of help to you once more.

I received your letter after returning from the front lines. I have had my first taste of real warfare. I need not try (and possibly it would not pass) to tell you where and how we made our big drive. The papers will tell you what the boys did in the battle of the Argonne and on towards the Meuse River, on the Verdun Front.

With five others from our company I am enjoying a seven days' leave in La Bourboule, the most beautiful spot in France. It is a summer resort for the rich of both England and France. It is sure a heaven after sleeping on the ground with a rock for a pillow, to come to a soft bed, with a big snowy pillow, and then to get away from army chow, to sit down to the best of meals. We went to Monte Dove where the water comes right out of the rocks boiling hot. We had there, hot mineral baths. These baths drive away all your rheumatism.

At the Y. M. C. A. we see the best shows, and Saturday night there was a dance with real American girls, the first I have seen since in France. Sunday I went to two services, heard a fine sermon with good singing.

I do not know how I will be able to go back to my company and drive after all this.

Mr. and Mrs. Hiram C. Lady, of Arendtsville, have received word that their son, Lieutenant Ira E. Lady, has been wounded, but not seriously. In July he was in the Chateau Thierry drive, being with the Fourth Infantry. He then attended an officers' school and received his commission as second lieutenant on October 1. He was assigned to the 316th Infantry in which he was serving when wounded.

Word has been received here of the death from wounds of Corporal George S. Dallinger, in France, on October 5. He was stationed with the troops at Gettysburg during the summer of 1917, and was well known here.

SAFE OVERSEAS

Mrs. Maurice Bollinger, who resides at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Bigham, of Iron Springs, has received word of the safe arrival overseas of her husband. Mr. Bollinger was a former resident of Greenmount.

Mrs. James McDonnell, of West street, has received word of the safe arrival overseas of her brother, Vincent Florence.

Felt His Importance.

Herbert was asked to hand the tools to his father, who was under the car trying to repair it. For this his father praised him, telling him he had been of great assistance. When they reached home and explained to his mother why they were late Herbert promptly added: "Yes, and if there hadn't been two of us men along we might not be here yet."

Masonry in the Revolution.

During the American Revolution craft lodges were found in many of the English regiments in America, and a number of them existed in the Continental army. There is a record of ten regularly constituted, acting under warrants and attached to the Continental regiments. It is claimed that General Lafayette was made a Mason at Valley Forge during the American Revolution, but R. F. Gould states in his history of Masonry that Lafayette was raised by the American Union lodge at Norristown, N. J. It was in the American Union lodge that the first resolutions were passed urging the election of a general grand master for the United States.

FRANKLIN COUNTY

HURLED THROUGH FENCE

Sergeant Joseph Edgar Osterman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Osterman, Chambersburg, who had been in a hospital in France recovering from wounds received in battle, has recovered and returned to his company. Since then, however, while he was discharging his duties an airplane dropped shells which exploded and hurled him through a barbed wire fence, but without inflicting serious injury.

SET FREE

When Raymond Hykes, near Scotland, contended last Friday before U. S. Commissioner Bonbrake that he had not registered for army service because he will not be 18 years old until May 4 next, he was telling the truth. This was proved by family records. So the commissioner dismissed Hykes.

In October of 1917 Hykes had obtained a marriage license in Chambersburg and at that time he swore he was over 21 years old. He is weak-minded, but physically is well developed, being as big as the average 20-year old youth.

WOUNDED BY SHELL

Word has been received that Paul E. Mahon, of Scotland, was wounded in action in France. The telegram did not give the nature of the wound except that it was from a shell.

WOUNDED IN FRANCE

Mrs. Emma Poffenberger, near Mercersburg, has received word of her son, Lieutenant G. F. Poffenberger, having been wounded in France.

IS STILL ALIVE

Friends of Corporal Keller Benedict will be glad to learn that he is still alive and in the service of his country over there despite the fact that his name appeared on the casualty list several weeks ago as being dead.

The Misses Benedict, of Waynesboro, relatives of the young man, received a letter from Corporal Benedict dated October 31.

He is in the base hospital, recovering from an attack of rheumatism which he contracted while in action against the Huns.

YORK COUNTY

BROKEN SKULL FATAL

Without having regained consciousness since the time of the accident in which he received a fractured skull, last Sunday, James Urey, six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Elias Urey, Brogueville, died.

The accident which resulted in his death occurred when in a delirious state he arose from a sick bed and fell down a stairway.

Besides his parents he is survived by two sisters, Beatrice and Sarah. The funeral was held on Thursday.

KILLED IN ACTION

Enoch Danner, of Cly, has received a telegram from the War Department, advising him that his son, James Danner, had been killed in action in France on November 3. This was eight days before the signing of the armistice brought an end to the hostilities in Europe.

DIES ON SHIPBOARD

After coming through the war uninjured, Wilton Abel, of Wrightsville, died from pneumonia while on shipboard enroute from France to America. He was aged 21 years.

Private Abel was a son of Horace and the late Anna Abel, Wrightsville. Word of his death was received by the father. This is the second casualty in the family, the dead soldier's brother, Albertus Abel, having been wounded in action. He is now under treatment in the embarkation hospital at Newport News, Va.

Young Abel enlisted at the recruiting station in York last May and was immediately assigned to an infantry unit at Fort Slocum, N. Y. He was set overseas after a brief period of training. Before entering the army he was employed by the Wrightsville Hardware company.

REPORT DECREASE IN COUNTY CROPS

But Adams County still Ranks Eighth in State for its Corn Yield.

NEAR END IN BUCKWHEAT

Potatoes Show Pronounced Falling off. What Other Counties Did in Production.

Adams County raised less corn, potatoes, and buckwheat this year than in 1917, according to figures made public to-day by the State Department of Agriculture but, notwithstanding this falling off, the county still stands eighth in corn production among the sixty seven counties of Pennsylvania. The potato crop showed the greatest decrease, last year's yield having been ahead of the 1918 crop by more than 100,000 bushels. The exact figures are as follows.

Corn
1918	2,421,192
Potatoes
1917	303,025
1918	187,725
Buckwheat
1917	1,450
1918	1,090

The State Department announces general decreases in production of the corn and potato crops in Pennsylvania during the past season as compared with the 1917 crop, and a substantial increase in the buckwheat production.

The total corn crop amounts to 63,597,435 bushels as compared with 65,260,885 last year, while the potato crop reaches a total of 24,733,242 bushels as compared with 30,650,209 a year ago. More attention was given to buckwheat throughout the State, many farmers using ground formerly intended for corn when the unfavorable season prevented the early seeding of corn. The estimated buckwheat production is 6,191,600 bushels as compared with 5,570,124 bushels a year ago.

Lancaster county again carried off the honors as the banner corn center with a total production of 4,532,880 bushels with York second with a production of 4,332,042 bushels. Other leading counties are Franklin 3,161,547; Berks, 2,892,547; Chester, 2,728,869; Cumberland, 2,714,224; Bucks, 2,645,349.

Lancaster's crop is almost a million bushels less than in 1917.

Lehigh county is the champion potato producer with 1,543,990 bushels with Berks second with 1,033,520 bushels. Other leaders are: York, 998,956; Lancaster, 992,550.

Northern tier counties carry off the buckwheat production honors with Bradford leading with 450,058 bushels, and Indiana second with 414,180. There are only five counties in the State which raise less buckwheat than Adams County.

English-Grown Belladonna.

Belladonna, which before the war came almost exclusively from Germany, is now being cultivated at Dorking on a scale that will prevent any possibility of dearth in the future, and doctors, who partially discontinued its use, may now prescribe it as freely as they did before the war, says the London Times. The first of the Dorking plantations was started immediately after the war broke out, but the difficulty of obtaining the seed, and more especially the slow growth of the plant, in the initial stages, prevented the drug being produced in large quantities until this year. Next year a still larger quantity will be placed on the market. Practically the whole of the plantations are on waste ground that could not possibly produce food. If the seed is sown in the open, it takes four years before sufficient herb can be cut to make a paying crop.

Value in Skim Milk.

Skim milk is chiefly casein, and while it is a food rich in protein it was formerly fed to the pigs or thrown away. Chemical research brought out its value in paper sizing, in making water soluble paints for interior use and for many other purposes.

Another use for skim milk consists under a patented process of emulsifying coconut oil and skim milk in water and then stabilizing them so that the product has substantially the same food qualities as milk and cream, and it looks and tastes like milk and cream. The skim milk may be shipped dried and no cow is needed within ten thousand miles.—From "Chemistry in Overalls," by Arthur D. Little.

Deaf Mutes Not Good Flyers.

Contrary to a report which has been widely scattered, deaf mutes do not make good airmen, as has been shown by recent tests made by the war department, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. This branch of the government is endeavoring to ascertain the source of the false report, which has led many young men to seek enlistment as flyers. In examining a number of deaf mutes it has been found that they are lacking in an adequate sense of equilibrium.

YANKS DON'T KNOW HOW TO RETREAT

Most Wonderful Boys in the World, Say Woman Canteen Workers.

WOUNDED ALWAYS CHEERFUL

Come Back From Battle Laughing and Joking—Y. M. C. A. Women Remain Under Shell Fire to Serve With Troops.

Paris.—"They can't retreat. They are the most wonderful boys in the world!"

This was the summary of the A. E. F. that two American women, Mrs. Vincent Astor and Mrs. Henry Russell, have just brought back from the front, where they were the first women to see the troops of the —— division as they went over the top and the first to greet them as they marched back again.

With gas masks over their arms and helmets at hand Mrs. Astor and Mrs. Russell laid a plank over two boxes for a Y. M. C. A. canteen in a wood just back of the trenches. Here they watched the men march by into battle and dropped cigarettes and candy into their tin bonnets as they marched back again, triumphant from the big drive.

"There was never such a return from battle before, surely!" Mrs. Astor and Mrs. Russell said, on their return to Paris. "The boys came back joking; they came back laughing. Those who had been wounded seemed to be just as happy and just as sure of victory as the others.

Wounded Are Cheerful.

"'Here's where I get a dimple out of this,' one boy who had been wounded in the face and who had lost all his teeth said to us. And that is the way they all were. When you went up to a boy who lay so still that you feared he was dead, you would find a cigarette waving between his teeth and a grin on his face."

As the men marched back past the impromptu Y. M. C. A. canteen they gave Mrs. Astor and Mrs. Russell souvenirs of the battlefield.

The two have now in their possession such mementos as a German belt, a cap, an indelible pencil formerly used by a Hun and any amount of German money.

"One boy who had an Iron Cross said that he had bargained with a wounded German for it," Mrs. Astor related. "He told us that he had offered the German a drink of water and to lift him up where the Red Cross stretcher bearers could see him more easily in exchange for the Iron Cross. He got it."

Mrs. Russell said that she had talked with one man who said that he had seen a German woman behind a machine gun, but that most of the information on the subject had been second-hand and vague enough to make one doubt the report.

Fury of Battle Upon Them.

"I asked him how he would treat such a woman if he captured her and he replied that he would shoot her without hesitation," she said. "The fury of the battle was still upon the men when they came back. We found very little disposition among them to sympathize with the 'kamerad' criers. They had a ferocity about them when they came back that they hadn't had when they went over the top, and a new courage and self-assurance."

In one of the villages near the front Mrs. Russell and Mrs. Astor met three Y. M. C. A. women who had remained under shell fire to serve the troops until they were moved back by the general's orders. The three were Mrs. Clara Simmons, Miss Elizabeth Drott and Mrs. Orli E. Heathorne.

Mrs. Astor and Mrs. Russell expect to be stationed at a Y. M. C. A. canteen at the front within a few weeks. Some one suggested that such an advanced position was extremely dangerous in case our troops should retreat and the Germans should follow.

"Our boys don't retreat," said Mrs. Astor. "They can't retreat. They don't know how."

Impossibilities.

We cannot vote right into wrong, or wrong into right.—Froude.

DOES NOVEL KNITTING WORK

Uncle Sam is training 4,000 boys a month for service in the new merchant marine, the work being done on training ships operated by the United States shipping board. The apprentice lads on the ships show themselves apt in their new duties, and are keen to fill their leisure with some useful occupation. Some of them, like the boy shown here, have a talent for making drawn work and fringe on canvas for hammocks, mats, manrope fittings, skylight covers and the like. This is the merchant sailor's "knitting work."

BURN FRENCH HOMES

Towns Wantonly Destroyed and Water Supply Defiled.

Huns Caught Red-Handed in Crime Far From Line of Fighting.

With the French Army in Champagne.—Detachments of engineers from General Gourand's army in exploring the region from which the Germans have been driven in this sector have discovered in many villages evidence of the method by which the destruction of dwellings, churches and other public buildings was organized.

The region along the Retourne abounds with indications of willful devastation of villages that were never within range of artillery, but were found razed. In others where houses were still erect they were mined for slow destruction, while the purely military installations, such as barracks built by the Germans for their own troops, were left intact.

Orders for the burning of Junville, a large village in the Valley of the Retourne, arrived on the day of evacuation. The people pleaded with the officers to spare their homes, but the torch was put to every house. The village was one vast brazier when the French entered it. Mont St. Remy shared the same fate.

At Neuville, where a villager implored that his home might be spared, an officer replied:

"I know it is an ignoble task, but such are our orders."

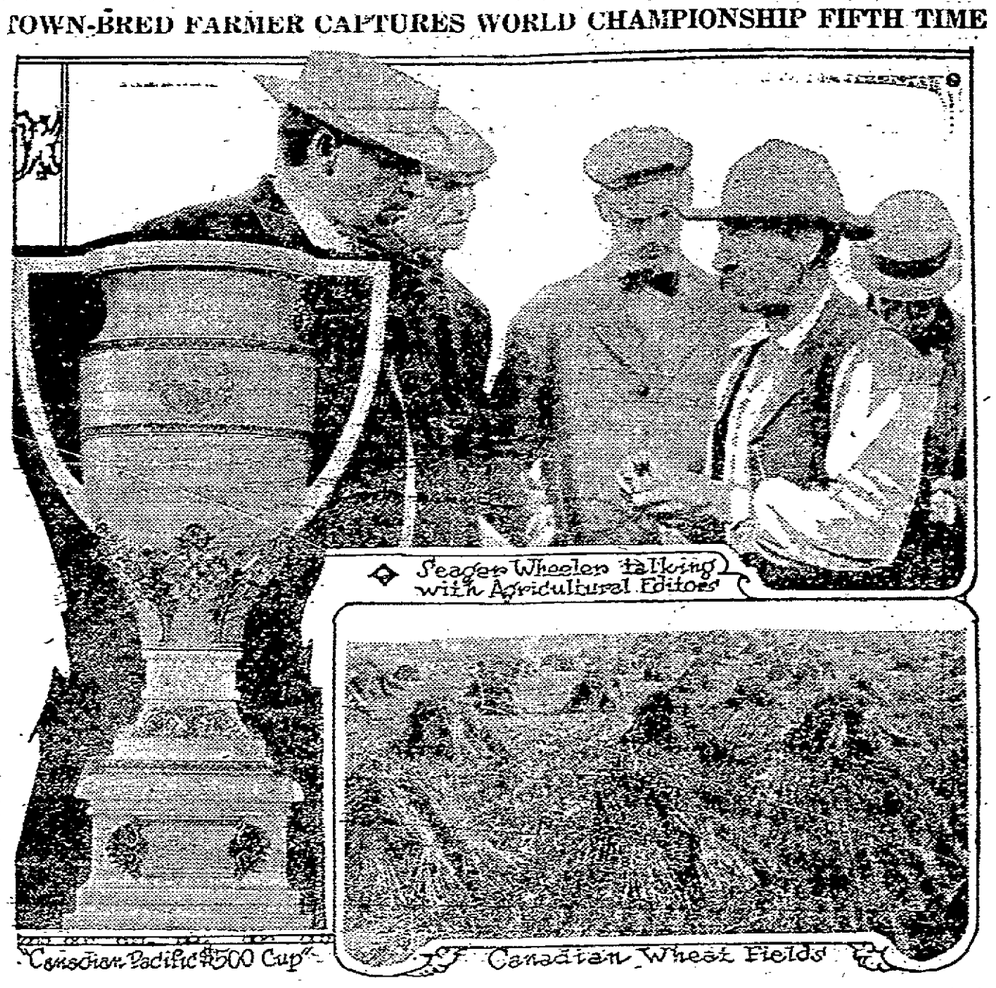
Chatelet, Allincourt, Dignicourt and Ville-Sur-Retourne were partly saved because the French troops pressed the Germans there so closely that the sappers left behind to do the work were surprised. Some of these men fled before they could set off the mines which had been prepared. Others were captured.

It has been necessary from French sappers and miners to explore the cellar of every house remaining intact in this region. Under most of them mines have been found. Mouths of wells were so mined that explosions would fill them with rock and earth.

Rich Man's Guide to Health.

The only rule for a rich man to be healthy is by exercise and abstinence to live as if he were poor.—Sir William Temple.

TOWN-BRED FARMER CAPTURES WORLD CHAMPIONSHIP FIFTH TIME



For the fifth time, a plain, unassuming farmer from Rosthern, Saskatchewan, captured the world's championship for the best bushel of spring wheat, at the International Dry Farming Congress at Kansas City, Mo., and walked away with two $500 cups. The man is Seager Wheeler, the most famous farmer on the continent, and winner of more prizes than you'd take the trouble to count.

Robert J. C. Stead in his new book, "The Cowpuncher," makes his hero say: "It isn't a man's job that makes him sick of his job; it's what he thinks of his job." Seager Wheeler has thought to such sound advantage that he has the record of producing 82 bushels of wheat to the acre, while the average per acre for the whole United States is around 14 bushels.

He farms because he loves it and not to make money. He hasn't grown rich growing prize winning seed, but he has had a good time. He was a town-bred boy who happened to be a born farmer and the whole world of agricultural experts, since he has been working out his ideas on his quarter section farm, has beaten a path to his door. It is estimated that if American farmers followed his example of utmost care in seed selection and in preparing the seed bed, that the wheat crop would be exactly doubled, to a clear gain in round numbers of a billion and half dollars annually. Yet he farms in quite a humble way, too busy "just farming" to make himself well-to-do.

He got the prize winning habit when he happened to send two bushels of the best wheat he had grown to the New York Land Show at Madison Square Gardens in 1911, where he captured the $1,000 in gold hung up by Lord Shaughnessy for the best hard spring wheat grown on the continent. He never studied the science of agriculture or graduated from any school but the school of hard knocks, and of nature. "It teaches a man honesty," he says, "to go into partnership with Nature."

Quite a number of people connected with the navy expressed disappointment that there was no mention of the part the navy took in the great war in the president's Thanksgiving proclamation, although high praise was given the army. Naval men would have been pleased to have their branch of the service mentioned in a document which received such wide publicity, for of course the Thanksgiving proclamations are printed in every paper in the United States.

One day when only a few senators were actually in the chamber, and unimportant bills were being considered, Senator Sheppard of Texas tried to put over something to help prohibition, which is his hobby. A bill to permit the construction of a bridge over a river in Tennessee came up, and Sheppard quietly offered an amendment which would have made the District of Columbia bone-dry. No one was paying much attention and Sheppard might have got away with it had not Vice President Marshall sounded an alarm by remarking, "The pending bill is hardly an appropriate place for the amendment." Senator King of Utah then woke up and objected on the ground that the amendment had nothing to do with a bridge bill.

"It has to do with water," jocosely remarked the vice president.

Sheppard saw that his chance was gone and withdrew his amendment, after accusing Marshall of giving the game away.

It is generally understood that Senator James Hamilton Lewis, who was defeated in November for re-election to the senate, is likely to be offered a very responsible position with the administration at the close of his senatorial term next March. Lewis has been one of the recognized spokesmen for the administration in the senate.

The time was that a man might be a candidate for the United States senate and also a candidate for the house at the same time. But such is no longer the case, particularly where primary laws apply. Two men who have become very prominent in the house will leave that body on the 4th of March because they sought the higher honor of a seat in the senate. One is Foss of Illinois and the other is Howard of Georgia.

All sorts of questions are asked in the consideration of the water power bill. For instance, quite a number of men are very anxious to know whether we are going to destroy Niagara falls, Niagara rapids, and the rapids of the St. Lawrence river. Congressman Humphreys of Mississippi was very much exercised over these questions, more so than New York congressmen. Congressman Dempsey of New York made a rather satirical remark about Humphreys coming all the way from the Gulf of Mexico to look after the interests of New York and other Western border states. Many New Yorkers think the value of the rapids in the matter of scenic beauty can be improved and the power of that water also used for commercial purposes.

YANKS NOT LENIENT

Show No Squeamishness in Dealing With Hun.

American Boy Avenges Death of His Chum Even to Hun Monument.

London.—If anyone believes the Yanks are inclined to be lenient toward the Huns he needs only to take a journey among the hospitals and get the spirit of the boys who have been through the mill. They tell some pretty characteristic stories in the hospitals.

One of the officers, when asked what was the general feeling of the boys, said:

"All you have to do is to ask one or two of them to find out."

This story is told by one of the officers and vouched for:

"We were going over. The first blast of the machine guns got us pretty well. Then 'Jerry' started over. We met. In the move forward one of our boys was shot by a German rifleman. The boy's chum, standing close to me, saw the German who shot the first boy. We then rushed. The Germans began dropping to their knees and calling 'Kamerad.' This boy, with his chum lying on the ground, dashed up to the German who had shot him. The Hun cried for mercy. He was on his knees.

"'Kamerad!' repeated the Yank. 'You get no mercy from me. I'm going to run this bayonet through you, turn you on your back, and then put your helmet on the gun-stock. That's the only monument you'll get, you dirty —— Hun.'

"The German pleaded for mercy again, while the boy held the bayonet against him.

"Then there was a second's suspense. Then came the grunt as the bayonet went home and the Hun was bowled over on his back. Then the boy said to me:

"'Lieutenant, if I lose this gun will it be charged up against me?'

"'Not a ——— bit, go ahead,' told him.

"Then he shoved the gun until the muzzle went through the German's chest, the bayonet deep into the ground. Then he calmly took the Hun's helmet, placed it on top of the gun and said:

"'That's your monument, you —— Hun!'"

NO UPPISHNESS ABOUT SIMS

American Admiral Acts as Guide to Naval Wireless Operator in London.

London.—"There's nothing uppish about Admiral Sims. Anybody who has joined the navy for the purpose of helping lick the child killers looks good to Sims.

Bill Swinger, former telegraph operator, now a first-class wireless operator, was plodding wearily about the Grosvenor Garden district trying to find some one who could talk United States and direct him to navy headquarters, when a big man with a reddish beard stopped him.

He talked United States and soon found that Bill was hopelessly lost. It isn't everybody who is directed about London by an admiral, commander in chief of Uncle Sam's warring navy, and Bill is rather pleased to have the honor.

Sims got Swinger's naval history in a few questions, then directed him to his "home port," which happened to be 28 Grosvenor Gardens.

WOUND STRIPE ONLY DESIRE

Only Concern of Man Apparently Dying as Result of Being Gassed.

Somewhere in France.—He was a marine who had been badly gassed during the attack on Chateau-Thierry. He lay in the field hospital, suffering horribly, yet uttering no sound. But presently the nurse could see that something was worrying him.

Finally he became so restless that she summoned a surgeon.

"Better try and find out what he wants," he directed. "Poor devil, he may want to leave a last message for his people. There's a good chance that he won't pull through."

Over him the nurse bent, ears attuned for some sob-compelling dying sentiment.

"Say," the ghostly whisper came slowly from blistered lips. "Say, do you get a wound stripe just for being gassed?"

DON'T FUSS WITH MUSTARD PLASTERS!

Musterole Works Easier, Quicker and Without the Blister

There's no sense in mixing a mess of mustard, flour and water when you can easily relieve pain, soreness or stiffness with a little clean, white Musterole.

Musterole is made of pure oil of mustard and other helpful ingredients, combined in the form of the present white ointment. It takes the place of out-of-date mustard plasters, and will not blister.

Musterole usually gives prompt relief from sore throat, bronchitis, tonsilitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia).

30c and 60c jars; hospital size $2.50.

CAPTURES OWN BROTHER

Dramatic Incident Occurs on the Western Front.

The great war—breeder of romance and adventure—has given birth to one of the most dramatic situations recorded since the kaiser's hordes started on their march through Belgium in 1914.

A United States marine fighting on the western front recently captured his own brother during a raid on the enemy trenches. During the days of the Civil war, when brother fought brother and father and son faced each other through the smoke of battle, such incidents were more or less everyday occurrences. But in this, the greatest of all wars, writers have been quick to say that romance in battle was a thing of the past.

Private Harold J. Dibbs of the U. S. marine crops, tells of the incident in a letter written to his parents in Great Falls, Mont.

"A strange incident happened when I went over the top. I saw a marine capture his own brother, who had been put into the Germany army while on a visit over there. Another soldier of an allied nation wanted to kill him, as he had helped in the capture. It was an interesting sight, to be sure. The brother declared his intention of joining the American forces."

SINKS MANY HUN SUBS

French Marine Patrol Is Doing Effective Service.

A report just issued by the French admiralty shows that during the month of July of this year, the aerial sea and coast patrols of the French marine covered a total of 485,230 miles.

This includes the work of the captive and navigating balloons, coast airplanes and seaplanes. Credit for the sinking of many submarines by French boats is given the aerial branch of the marine service because of its untiring work in ferreting out the sea pirates. The aerial patrol also discovered numerous groups of mines laid by German submarines in French waters.

During July, the report states, captive balloons were in action for 5,540 hours, dirigibles for 1,911 hours, airplanes and hydroavions for 7,432 hours. During the months of June the aerial sea patrol covered 447,040 miles.

SPOILS HYMN OF HATE

Yank Shell Cuts Short Note Being Written by Hun.

A square hit from an American shell ended the hymn of hate a German noncommissioned officer was writing in a dugout in a French village, to his sweetheart in Berlin. The letter was found near his body when the American troops occupied the town.

"Dear Frieda," the note read. "I am waiting for the time when this awful war will be over and I can come back and hold you in my arms. But first I hope it will fall to my lot to kill a dozen of these dirty American dogs who—"

The letter ended there. A shell had penetrated the dugout and blown the German to pieces.

Speaking of the innumerable war commissions and war bureaus, there is a noticeable increase as time goes on of "war committees" in Washington. Only these last are not government bodies. Many branches of different industries are sending agents on to Washington to try and promote governmental use of articles which are the product of these particular industries. It may be a metal, or a chemical, or anything of the sort, but the people who produce it or control it put up a "war committee" sign on their office and give the impression that they are purely patriotic concerns.

The Superstitious Surgeon.

Small wonder that the surgeon gets to believe in the Goddess of Chance. He has his lucky and unlucky days. He does his part with the unerring skill of which he is master. The rest is on the knees of the gods. We know surgeons who will not operate on Friday, who must wear a certain gown, who will postpone an operation until the next day because they have spilled salt.

FOE CUTS FLYER'S PARACHUTE ROPE

Wounded American Tells of Cruelty 4,000 Feet Above Battlefield.

HUN BRUTE GRINS AT HIM

Yank Swings Helplessly in Air Watching the Rope the Parting of Which Would Plunge Him to Death.

Paris.—An act of refined German cruelty 4,000 feet above a certain battlefield was related to me at the great hospital at Neuilly, near Paris, by an American balloonist, whose name cannot be mentioned because he is not yet listed as a casualty. This American was descending in a parachute when a German aviator deliberately cut the parachute ropes. Here is his story:

"Another lieutenant observer and myself were up in a 'sausage.' We were not worried, because the German aviators had been very quiet lately.

"Suddenly a German pursuit plane dropped out of the clouds overhead in a straight nose dive toward our balloon, firing explosive bullets. We immediately took to our parachutes. The blazing balloon collapsed and plunged 20 feet away from us, the fire scorching us as it fell.

Cuts Parachute Ropes.

"I did not see the German aviator until about a minute after my parachute had opened. Then he drove past me, firing not at me but at the parachute ropes. I saw tracer bullets overhead had cut two ropes. The parachute began to wobble and threatened to collapse.

"The enemy flyer drew a circle, then came back, despite the 'archies' (high angle guns) whose shells were menacing me as well as him.

"I tried to use my revolver, hoping I could land one bullet before plunging, but I was hampered by the harness. The coward deliberately grinned at my first shot. Then he fired again at the ropes. I fell with a sudden jar. I saw a third rope swiftly unraveling; it had been cut. Just then a shell burst near and drove the plane away.

"Got Foe's Number."

"Imagine my sensation, swinging helplessly in the air, watching the rope the parting of which would plunge me! Well, the parachute collapsed about thirty feet above a forest. Here I am, and my only hope is to get back and get a chance at that German aviator. I remember his plane number—yes, I got his number!"

The Main Question.

"Of course, you can support my daughter in the style to which she has been accustomed," said the weary-looking father, "but can you support her in the style to which she has been unaccustomed, but to which she feels that she is fully entitled to become accustomed?"

FACTS and ESSENTIALS

There are many facts and essentials that can be told about clothes. But there are always those that are more important than others. The most important ones are therefore enumerated—

1. STABILITY of merchandise is the slogan of our clothes.
2. STYLE, is and always was an outstanding feature of our clothes.
3. QUALITY is our greatest standby.
4. DURABILITY as a necessity is found in all clothes, but in ours especially.

Remember our clothes embody all these features.
